

The J.H. Martine home, later purchased by the family of Gordon Urner, was located at what would become the corner of Martine and North, and was reported to have been one of the famous George Washington stop-overs.