

A map of the settled portion of East Jersey, 1682. "It was compiled from various sources and will give the reader an idea of the extent of the settled portion of the province about the time it passed into the possession of the 'twenty-four' [original settlers of this region]." This map was reproduced in 1846 in the collections of the New Jersey Historical Society.