

The Osborn-Cannonball House undergoing an exterior renovation by the Historical Society of Scotch Plains and Fanwood. The renovation was designed to recapture the home's original colonial appearance; notice, for example, the front porch has been decreased in size.

A c. 1819 map of the "roading" to the town of Britania (in Pennsylvania), a British settlement. The map has been damaged, and its repair causes the title "Town of Britania" to read erroneously as "Town Oritania." Notice the stage roads from New York via Newark, Elizabethtown (now Elizabeth), and Easton leading to Philadelphia.

