

Edmund A. Seeley in the late 1800s (photographed by Guillermo Thorn of Plainfield, NJ). Seeley was a prominent Scotch Plains businessman who founded a mill in the Watchung Mountains utilizing the Green Brook for power.

The home of Edmund A. Seeley. This Victorian home was situated in the mountains above Seeley's Pond. In this view, the entire front of the house is visible. The house has been demolished, and the property belongs to Union County Parks System.

