

A c. 1900 view of Seeley's Mill. Close inspection reveals a worker in a second-floor window of the mill.

This picture of the mill was taken in July 1916, and indicates the wrath of the Green Brook. (Notice the second-floor addition with overhang and braces is absent in the preceding picture.)