

An 1898 photograph of Paff's grocery store, located on the corner of Park and Bartle Avenues. In front of the store are Charlie Wade and Henry Marsh. Notice the product advertisements in and beneath the window. The fainter sign to the right of the door announces a football game between Scotch Plains and Westfield. This corner now is the site of Russo's Business Machines, Inc. at 393 Park Avenue. (Photograph courtesy of Russo's Business Machines, Inc., Scotch Plains)

John's Meat Market on Park Avenue in 1939. This photograph is of John Losavio in front of his store at 389 Park Avenue. Compare the prices of meat today . . . The site was once the home of the Union City Herald. (Photograph courtesy of John's Meat Market, Scotch Plains)
