

An elementary school class at School One, c. 1900. Compare this interior shot, with the windows covered to prevent sunlight from washing out the photograph, to the one below.

A c. 1900 photograph of a classroom at School One. It appears as if the children's names are written on the blackboard to the left in the photograph.