

THE W. A. GARDNER HOUSE. With the stately grace of Victorian homes built in the 1890s, this typical Shingle-style dwelling is located on North Avenue. The house was also known as "the Bride's House," because J. P. Stevens lived in it with his new bride while awaiting completion of his own home on Forest Road.