

A PRIME LOCATION. The close proximity of North Avenue to the railroad station attracted homeowners. Some of the homes were built by the Central New Jersey Land Improvement Company, the real estate arm of the railroad.

A SERENE SETTING. This summer scene looks northward on Martine Avenue from the intersection with North Avenue. Trees, well-defined sidewalks, and an unpaved street surface suggest a quiet, unhurried pace of life.