

TO THE EAST. This 1940s view of South Avenue points eastward toward Martine Avenue. The sign advertising coal confirms that it fueled most homes in that decade. The curbside gas pumps have long since been replaced by service stations.