

A REPLACEMENT. The new borough hall was erected in 1979 on North Martine Avenue on the site of the former Homestead Hotel.

A RECENT ADDITION. The Millennium Clock and the surrounding plaza were built in the year 2000 at the intersection of South and Martine Avenues and were financed by private donations and through the initiative of Mayor Maryanne Connelly. Note the replica of the original bishop's crook street lamp. Almost 100 of these lamps have been placed throughout the borough through the efforts of Clayton Pierce.
