

A GARDEN CLUB PRESENTATION. Peggy Dowley of the Fanwood Garden Club pretends to warm her hands over the original potbelly stove from the first railroad station. Eleanor Cruse and Justin Agnoli share in the presentation of a plaque from the club to the Community House, where the stove remains as a part of the building's past. The plaque reads, "In Retrospect—Many hands and endless feet cluster 'round me seeking heat."