

AT THE CROSSROADS. This photograph of the Texaco station at the corner of Martine and South Avenues dates from the 1930s. At the site of today's Dunkin' Donuts, the gas station remained a corner landmark until it was replaced by Sip-N-Dunk Donuts, Fanwood's first all-night café, c. 1970.

TIE & TIMBER. This Green Brook pine tree is on its way to Rockefeller Center for the Christmas season through the efforts of Fanwood Tie & Timber. The company's sawmill occupied the site of the current A&P supermarket on South Avenue.
