Scotch Plains went headlong into its 1949 football season with one of the heaviest lines in the history of the team. Composed of such sturdy and capable players as Bob Angle, Sab Venezia, Jesse Graves, Bob Isaacson, Bill Brigden, and Ron Sylvan, the front wall was as apt a combination as could be found on any team. The roughness that spoils the smooth playing necessary in the backfield, and the old trouble, "fumble-itis," were smoothed out by such competent backs as Bill Franklin, Herbie Byard, Artie Brunner, Jim Martin, and Len Gutoski who ran the pigskin harder and farther each game as shown in the superb maneuvering in the Red Bank and Rahway games.

By far the most crippling factor against us this year was the many injuries resulting from the all-out, undying efforts on the parts of the team members. With less misfortune befalling them next year, the team is bound to get back its winning ways.
