

T'was the night of April 13th and all through Scotch Plains High an oriental mood prevailed, for this was the evening of our Junior Prom. We'd spent all day decorating; stringing up flowers and winding crepe paper. One by one, people had left to get ready for the big night. The girls looked beautiful in their formals, and the boys looked adult and handsome in their tuxedos. As an "Oriental Dream", our gym was the spot where a delightful time was had by all.
