

FIRST ROW, left to right: Edith Higgins, M.A.; Jane C. Egee B.A.; Faith Limpert, M.A.; Richard Herrick, M.A.; Charles Nelson, B.A.; Virginia Rahn, B.A.; SECOND ROW: Eugene Kraut-

blatt, B.A.; James Gustave, B.A.; Edward Warshow, B.A. ABSENT: Ella Callam, M.A.; Edward Braynock, B.S.

The vocabulary word for today is 'obstreperous'.

ENGLISH

Miss Edith Higgins

This department covers a wider variety of topics than almost any in the school. The study of literature ranges from Great Expectations to Macbeth; grammar ranges from the simple sentence to complex diagrams; compositions and essays expand into term papers. "Extras" such as word lists, panel discussions and oral reports are also included. English is the class of the usual and the unusual. Here we learn to better express ourselves in the language of our land.

"Where's Rick Jackson (a three-time loser)?"

"The infinitive is diagrammed . . ."