CULMEN 1962

It would be repetitious indeed to start this write-up by saying how much work it is to produce a 164-page book and carry all your majors at the same time. But this is what the Culmen staff does. Starting with no experience specifically relating to yearbook work, we are forced to learn fast, because the first deadline comes only 3 short months after the start of school in the fall.

This year, because of a fairly limited amount of space, we had to cut from the book many artistic details and club officers' pictures. However, many new clubs are represented, and we have concentrated our efforts on candid and action photography. We hope our cover design and coloring may set a tradition for our school in the future. Lastly, it is our sincere wish that all of you will enjoy your CULMEN for years to come.
