

A. Loraine Ayers
Douglass, B.A.
Rutgers, M.Ed.

Isabel M. Turner
University of Colorado, B.A.

Even the teachers need help!

LIBRARY

Miss Lorraine Ayers

High school students soon learn that one of the most helpful study aids is a school library. Here they can spend a study period or time before and after school doing reference work or selecting books for their own personal enjoyment. The students and faculty of S.P.F.-H.S. are fortunate in having one of the best equipped school libraries in the area. Its reference shelves contain numerous sets of encyclopedias, dictionaries, and various guide books. The fiction and non-fiction selections include the best in world literature; however, all this would mean nothing without our capable librarians who help things to function smoothly. The student body is grateful for, and proud of, their school library.

The library—quiet?!?

