This is easily the most active club in school. The girls do two hours of creative thinking and dancing every Monday night, and present the results in an assembly in the spring, complete with black leotards, imaginative props and an attentive audience. This year they've become professional enough to give an evening performance, too. The group has grown considerably in the last few years—it won't be long before boys will be joining, too!

STAMP CLUB

The Stamp Club is more active than many people might think. Along with weekly philatelic bull sessions, trading and consultation of the stamp catalogues, the club undertakes such projects as writing to philatelic agencies in foreign countries and writing letters to the editor of the "Plainfield Courier" during the Hammarskjold stamp and the Communist goods crises.
