

ELINOR YOUNG
College of Wooster, B.A.
Rutgers University
Art
Cheerleaders, Art Club

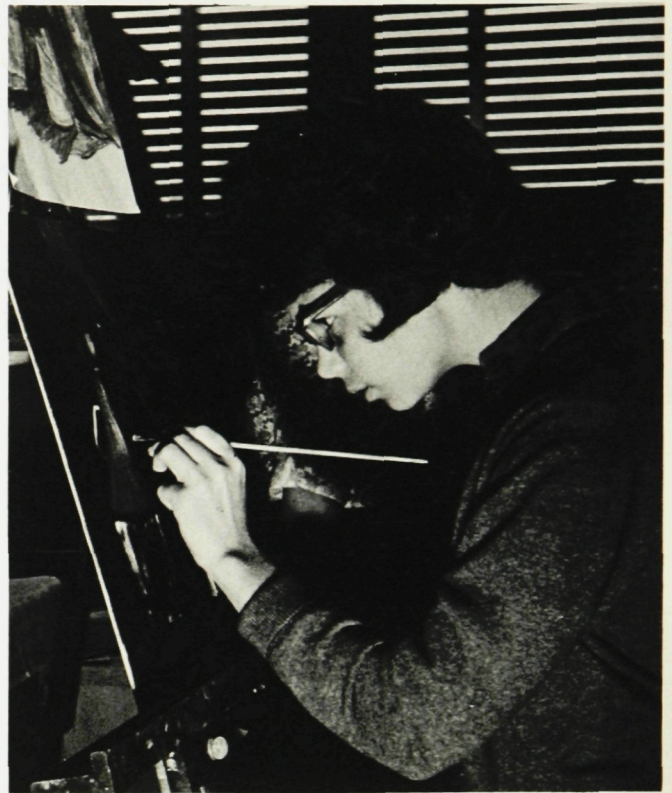

ART DEPARTMENT

Miss Elinor Young

Everyone has the ability to express himself through art, by seeing and appreciating the beauties and forms of life. This is the idea Miss Young, head of the Art Department, tries to convey to her students, which have totaled more than 200 this year.

In all three years of art, the aspiring artist is encouraged to portray his ideas and feelings through the various media and by studying the basic elements of art—color, rhythm, texture, and movement, through tangible objects.

Yes, anyone appreciative of life, itself, can express himself through art.

silent expression

READING DEPARTMENT

effortless concentration

THOMAS J. MOLONEY
St. Joseph's College, B.A.
Reading

Mr. Thomas J. Moloney

Every student, at one time or another, will encounter or require some assistance from the Reading Department. Classes are taught in six-week periods, on a small intensified scale, to teach the fundamentals of speed reading, vocabulary, increasing comprehension and generally, to promote more reading among the students.

The department uses the newest equipment available, such as the tachistoscope, which is helpful and enjoyable at the same time.

With facilities such as these this department has become indispensable to S.P.F.H.S.

