ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

Mr. Braynock

Through three years of English and innumerable experiences with reading, writing, listening and speaking, students find themselves becoming more able to communicate intelligently with others. With the study of the poems, short stories, essays, plays, and novels of the world's greatest writers, come the added qualities of understanding and maturity.

We owe our gratitude to the English teachers who enabled us to think deeply.

"With each copy of my book goes an automatic 'A'."

"Look, Sally. See Spot run, run, run."

"No, Paulette, 'cat' is not the verb in this sentence."
