

"Hmm . . . Is that squiggle a 't' or a 'w'?"

BUSINESS EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

Our high school's bookies . . . er, bookkeepers.

Mr. Esposito

Sounds of activity are always heard from our Business Education Department. Pencils fly over lined pages as fast dictation is recorded. Typewriters move quickly as fingers swiftly touch the keys. In other rooms in the Business Ed. wing, the sounds are a little quieter as students ponder over the mysteries of bookkeeping. Through the courses offered, students become the business professionals of the future.
