

Mrs. Pollock works with the data processing machine. Due to the size of the machine it stood in the hall for weeks. After the floor was reinforced it was hoisted through a window into the processing room.

A school bus unloads at the front entrance to the school. This proved to be more efficient than unloading at side entrances, as was done in the past.