

Mr. Smith displays confidence in student drivers.

Students Receive Behind The Wheel Training

Who would suspect that those Sophomores busily learning to change a tire are a part of a health class? This year the course has been expanded to include just this, as one phase of Driver's Safety Theory.

During the Junior Year students are required to take a standard course in first aid, which has recently been expanded to include civil defense procedures. The course also covers the mechanics and maintenance of a car, as well as New Jersey state laws involving safe driving procedures.

Driver's Education may be elected by a student who has passed Driver's Safety. He learns driving skills while on the road in one of the school's three cars, and is ably assisted by one of the four Driver's Education teachers.

As yet there is no health course offered to Seniors, but the prospect of one in the near future is under consideration.

First aid training is an essential part of the health program. Dave Freyer prepares Walt Hughes for a walk through the boys' locker room.

Linda Fulcher displays an unusual reaction to pin stuck into her neck by Clare Zanfini.

