

S.P.F.H.S. UNDERGOES SELF-EVALUATION

The primary concerns of Dr. Tyson and the entire Administration this year have been the construction of the new addition and the impending Middle States Evaluation. A sincere effort was made to encourage student participation in both of these areas. The Administration openly sought the aid of interested students in helping to form ideas and procedures to be used once the move has been made into the new facilities. These programs included suggestions for a more liberal policy toward the spending of free time. The student body was asked to assume a responsible and active role in the formulation of projects, programs, and philosophies to be employed within the next few years.

The Middle States Evaluation presented another challenge to Administration and students alike. In looking objectively and honestly at the situations which exist at S.P.F.H.S., students and administrators worked together to praise the school's good qualities and improve the areas where weaknesses were present.

A widened path of student-Administration liaison and communication helped to make the 1968-1969 school year a profitable and successful one.
