GERMAN AND RUSSIAN JOIN LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

This year saw the addition of two new languages, German and Russian, to the curriculum of the Language Department. Along with the existing course offerings of French, Spanish, and Latin, the languages expanded the student's ability to communicate and to better understand the culture of their language's country. Available for independent study and language development was the Language Lab, which was open for student use whenever needed.

The basic curriculum emphasized fluency through grammar, vocabulary, and oral presentations. The language studies program was also expanded by a variety of audio-visual aids, field trips, clubs, and honor societies.
