

Brian James, a member of the J.V.A.V.

C.I.T. Tunes in on T.V.

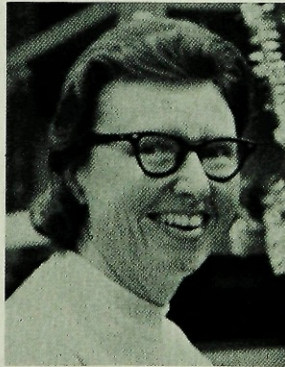

This year the Audio-Visual Department began its year with a new name; Center for Instructional Technology. Directed by Mr. Frank Maleski and Mrs. Mary Lou Thayer, C.I.T. was responsible for the maintenance, operation and distribution of all communicational equipment at SPFHS.

Much increased facilities enabled the department to explore areas of communicational technology in greater depth. C.I.T. continued its services in graphic arts, photographic material, video taping and electronic equipment. Video taping has presented tremendous opportunities to SPFHS. It was possible this year to tape assemblies, class plays, pertinent speeches and to make special "T.V. shows" to educate the student body. Such a field is wide open for expansion and through this media, C.I.T. takes an even more vital part in the educational process.

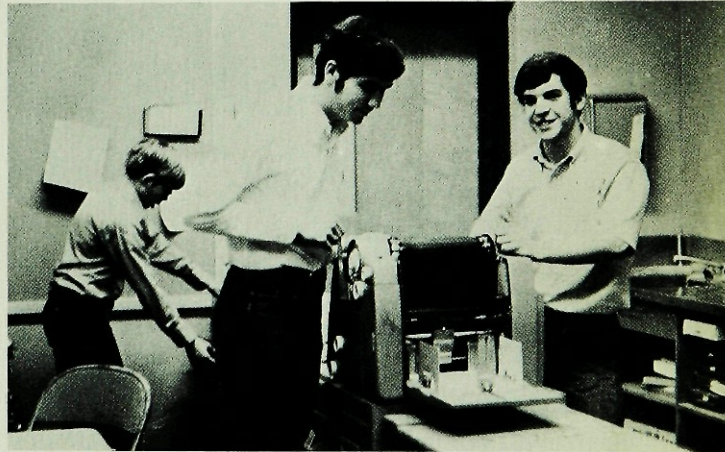

"These twenties look a little smeared." Jeff Taylor, Brian Newman.

FRANK MALESKI

MARY LOU THAYER

MRS. ALICE SCHOTT, MRS. JACQUELINE EGAN.

SAUL DOROSIN

Mr. Dorosin, Special Education teacher, selected his subject matter according to individual student's needs. Each student learned what is necessary to live his daily life.