

adrianna tous

anne zmachinsky

"spanish always gives me a sinus headache." beth tyson.

those spanish tapes will do it every time. maureen butler.

language department

. . . "to make language a vital and relevant part of the student's life". . . .

. . . english-centered minds filtered with foreign thoughts . . . french, spanish, german, russian . . . striving to understand a new and different world . . . "i can say everything but what i really want to!" . . . new conversation courses meeting the verbal need . . . prospectus for french theatre . . . language lab revitalized . . . earnest individual effort . . . grasping the incomprehensible, but attainable . . . modern systemized resource center . . . media kits utilized to full potential . . . "being in the language lab makes it all seem easier, anyway" . . . monopoly and scrabble in french? . . . spanish magazines and newspapers to portray the reality of the people . . . "you dream in german?" . . . microcosm of the global effort to communicate . . . "if i could only speak your language". . . .