

Business Department

. . . click-clack at the end of the hallway . . . students pounding furiously upon blank keys . . . copying and taking dictation . . . probing answers through data processing . . . learning basic business skills; typing, stenography, note-taking, accounting . . . going over each lesson time after time . . . stressing neatness and clarity . . . three new courses this year: Income Tax Preparation, Stocks and Bonds, Integrated Book-keeping . . . co-op program; taking part in a make believe office situation . . . enabling students to experience the feel of business . . . part-time employment through DECA programs . . . a deviation from the traditional school curriculum . . . preparing students to enter the challenging world of business. . .

