

"Back when I was a kid . . ." Joel Glazer.

History Department

Change within a sound environment is the purpose of the History Department this year. In addition to U.S. 1, U.S. 11, and World History, twenty-two electives are presented to the upperclassmen. The Department rearranged U.S. 11 into semester courses concerned with American and European governments and policies. Law students from Seton Hall gave a series of lectures in the Constitutional Law classes dealing with issues of government. The courses offered provide an opportunity for students to relive memorable incidents in history. Through the program of studies, SPFHS students are given a chance to examine the events of today that will influence tomorrow.

First Row: Pearl Rich, Ann Butts, Richard Call. Second Row: Barbara Fox, Manuel Cancelli, James Sochan, Barbara Finelli. Not Present: Thomas Finnegan, Linda Jewel.