

Teachers find their own way of utilizing free time. Linda Jewell.

HISTORY DEPARTMENT

The History Department allows students to examine the flow of change and its effect upon society. A vast curriculum enables students of all abilities to gain an understanding of history. In addition to the U.S. History I and II courses, the department offers semester electives which fulfill the U.S. II requirement. An extensive orientation program introduces sophomore and junior History students to these electives. In an effort to involve parents in the History program, the department organized monthly meetings to increase communication between faculty and parents. By focusing on the events of the past and present the History Department hopes to teach students to improve the world of tomorrow.

This is the type of dance you'll never get tired of.

