

"Would you buy waterfront property from this woman?"

MEDIA CENTER

The Media Center remained a vital part of instruction at SPFHS this year. The Media Center provided a broad range of resources and supplementary materials for courses offered in the high school. In an attempt to curb increasing book theft, the upstairs of the library was redesigned. More restrictions placed upon students provided limited access to the book stalls. The new regulations were created to foster conditions conducive to learning and study in a quiet area.
