

"It is so simple and easy to use that for many it will largely supersede Roget . . ."
 --1918

SHERRY SCHLOSSER

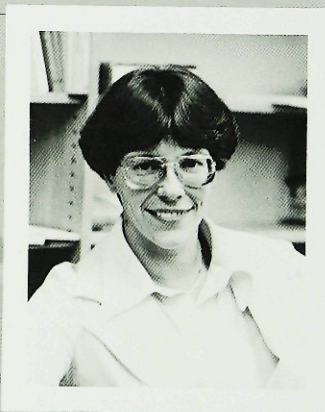

FRANCIS QUINN

PAMELA PERKA

CAROL SENFF

CAROL SHEPPARD

JANIS STARNNER

Reading, writing and grammar skills are being taught on all levels by the SPFHS English Department. From level 1 Accelerated Composition to Compensory classes, students have the opportunity to choose the courses best suited to their needs. Several periods of orientation, held in December, familiarize students with the options open to them. Whether one enjoys reading American literature or detective fiction, writing poetry or research papers, chances are that the English department offers a course for you.

Together, English teachers hope to give each student a chance to expand his knowledge of literature, writing, and usage. The extensive English elective program gives every student the opportunity to specialize in the areas of language which he finds most helpful, interesting, or challenging.

