

Reflecting on the past as well as the present, one cannot deny the contributions of both Mr. Charles Armerding and Miss Karen McDermott to both students and teachers at Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School. All who have borrowed from the seemingly infinite patience and wisdom of these two individuals would vehemently agree with the above statement. Although Mr. Armerding is presently retired, the Culmen Staff will long remember his fifteen year service as an advisor and counselor to the past yearbook staffs. Both Mr. Armerding and Miss McDermott consistently demonstrate the principle that humanitarianism and a good sense of humor bring out the best aspects in those with whom they have contact. It is certainly an impossibility to fully repay them for their efforts.

With due respect, the 1981 Culmen is dedicated to these two outstanding instructors.
