

The teachers, staff, freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors all become separate entities once more, just as the solving of the Rubik's cube moves each color back to its separate side. But even though the colors are separated, the Rubik's cube is still held together, just as a sense of school spirit and commonly shared memories will somehow always keep us together.

