

After seeing everything – the two-bit dramatics of our reality,
we thought we were big time –
we are left at the beginning.
After being everything –
being puppets and poets
and part-time adults,
we thought we were all-knowing –
we are left with goodbye.

Debbie McCann

