

Student-Faculty Clashes Leave Fun, Memories

Crushed egos and wounded pride represented the carnage left from a series of Student-Faculty "confrontations" sponsored by the Class of '85 this Spring.

The action started in late February with a Student-Faculty basketball staged in the New Gym as an assembly program. Respectful of the advanced age of the Faculty, and anxious not to overwork the school nurse, the Seniors coasted to an easy defeat which, at one point, had ballooned to nearly 30 points.

Matching brain with brawn, the Seniors next challenged the Faculty to a "Battle of the Minds" in March. Afraid of being destroyed by the Seniors, the Faculty held secret practice sessions in "buzzer technique," coached, naturally, by "Buzzy" and Mrs. Hull. Practice made perfect as the Faculty defeated the Seniors in back-to-back assembly programs.

The tide turned in June as the Seniors blasted the Faculty in softball by a score of 23-11. Flushed with success, the Seniors went on to handily beat the Faculty in volleyball, and in later, in June, at golf, on the Scotch Hills course. Despite the competitive spirit and sore muscles, these "confrontations" provided a fine way for members of the Class of '85 and the Faculty to remember each other.

Above: The Seniors' Cheering Section. Below: "Foul? What foul? The dude just slipped into the bleachers." Ronnie Blair.

