

CRUTCH SHOTS

It can really be a tough place around here from time to time. This is just a very brief sampling of those who do not make through the year in one piece. After all, accidents can happen. You never know when you're going to slip and fall down a flight of stairs. Or do a three-point landing on the gym floor going up for a rebound or a spike. Even cheering the other walking wounded on may be hazardous to your health! So, they wheel you down to the infirmary, patch you up, and plop you back in your favorite seat in third period English class. It can really be a tough place around here, so, you've simply got to be tougher! Understand?
