

RELATIONSHIPS

A school is more than an organized pile of brick and steel. It's the PEOPLE inside which give it its definition: warm and caring, cold and apathetic.

Students attend because of the subjects they HAVE to learn AND because of the people they WANT to see: friends and teammates, lovers (sometimes) and teachers (occasionally). A stranger in September may be a friend ... and more ... by June, if you keep your mind and your heart open.

Relationships make school something to look forward to every day.
