

A Busy Second Year For Street Action

Street Action, in its second year at SPFHS, planned an ambitious schedule for the school year. Once again, relief projects for the homeless and disadvantaged were on the drawing board. Meeting Thursdays, the group moved in new directions with plans to work with divorced children, perhaps in student group sharing sessions, and with minority group students who feel anxiety from their unique situations. Mrs. Carol Oakes, the Street Action faculty advisor, would coordinate the latter efforts through the facilities of the Guidance Department and Resolve.

Quiz Bowl Searches For Answers In A Non-Traditional Year

It has been a difficult year for the SPFHS Quiz Bowl team. The Fall brought disappointing, consecutive early losses in the William Paterson Bowl and the TV-3 Challenge competitions. The team continued to practice Monday nights through the winter, struggling to rebuild its confidence. In March, the hard work appeared to pay off. In the annual Student-Faculty competition assembly program, members of the Team blew the doors off the Faculty with a 400-plus point victory. Later in March, the Team looked forward to BRITE — the Bridgewater-Raritan Invitational Tournament of Excellence. Last year's team placed second in the State, with each team member earning $500.00. With most of that team intact this year, Quiz Bowl team fortunes appeared bright, as well.
