

Pitching was the primary concern of Coach Mason on the eve of the 1991 Varsity season. Of primary interest was the progress made by Sophomore Shannon Castoro, who pitched for the JV in '90, and Senior Sandi Liebiez, who had not pitched for SPFHS in two years due to acute tendonitis in her pitching elbow. As a Junior, Sandi was rated as one of the top outfielders in Union County by both the Star-Ledger and the Courier News.
