

REBOUNDING

The Raiders Varsity boys' basketball team barely got through their season with a 3-18 record. If not for their strong will to play hard, the team's morale would have been crushed.

After defeating arch rival Westfield, a frustrating 13 game losing streak followed. Although the games were close at the end of the season, the team could not salvage a winning season.

Co-captains Erik Bowser and Todd Flannery led the squad with strong support coming from quick point guard Kevin Hagen and deadly shooter Joe Gentile.

Coach Willie Leonardi stated, "Injuries and inexperience were key factors this year, but the future looks much better."
