The 92-93 school year brought the opportunity for many SPFHS students to travel abroad. The school sponsored trips to various destinations near and far, even overseas. A group of our French students were able to soak up some European culture as they toured France and England for three weeks. Early in the year, JSA attended the annual Fall State which took place in Philadelphia. They participated in many debates and enjoyed a tour of the city. In October, three lucky teachers took a group of twenty students to experience the haunted happenings of Salem's 300th anniversary. In late April, the Music Department participated in the competition in Ocean City, Maryland. During the spring break, many students experienced European tradition as they toured France, Spain, and Italy. Travelling beyond the boundaries of Scotch Plains affords many students the opportunity to become citizens of the world.
