With their eyes on all aspects of life as a spiffy student, the 1998 Culmen Staff had their work cut out for them. Their task was simply to accurately knowlege and represent each and every student, teacher, club and sport without our school. As they saw it, the school year was filled with exciting moments and action packed days that they captured and presented for their fellow classmates. Of course, without the expertise assistance by the senior editorial staff and their advisors, Mrs. Basta and Ms. Zarro, the yearbook would not have been such a work of art.

Too much cropping has tired out seniors Joe Badala, Felice Wachtel, Jen Weiler, Courtney Metzger as they are caught snoozing on the job.

Oh, the eye again! Here the 1st semester Culmen staff members formed a symbolic eye to represent the yearbook, as they saw it.
