

BAREFOOT IN THE PARK

This year's Drama Club performed Neil Simon's Barefoot In The Park. In December they put on four performances consisting of two separate casts. Their advisor, Mr. Douglas Hooper, was overwhelmed by the time and effort put in by the actors and the crew. He is hoping for another great performance when the Drama Club puts on their next play, two years from now.

Liz Black helps to straighten up the set before their next performance.

Jason Subbie checks to make sure that the phone is in working order.

Checking the set for imperfections are Mr. Hooper, Brian Kaplan, and Joseph Negrón.
