

feel like it'll go away being able to cheer you up because you know exactly what will make them happy that is what a good friendship is truly about friendships that are special last forever happiness is shared, time spent makes life worth living

True friendships are forever!!! a friend is the person you can walk along sit with, talk about anything