

Left: You know Sophomore Michelle Dsumey is nervous when she starts biting her nails and crumpling her papers.

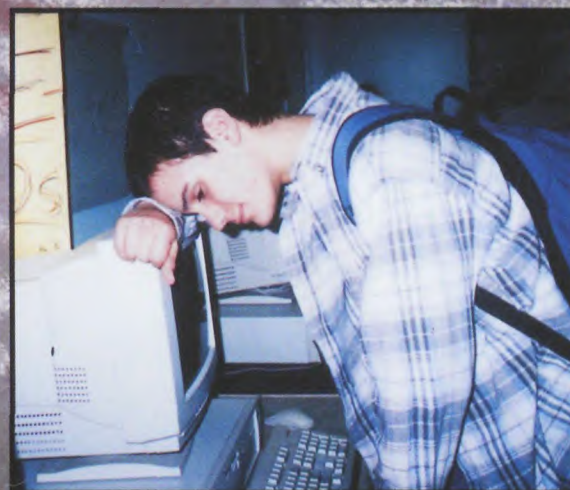

Below: Senior Tara Shashaty releases all her anger with a scream, as she stares at her work.

Left: Among deadlines, tests, projects, and DECA business, Senior Mike Hessemer is up to his eye-balls with work.

Tired and cranky, school is the last place Junior Dan Birbaum wants to be right now, especially because he has to sell candy bars all day.

Freshman Adam Biner just lays his head on the computer after losing his unsaved document.