The 2004 Culmen, volume 64, is the first all-color yearbook at Scotch Plains - Fanwood High School. The 750 copies of the 328 page yearbook were printed by Jostens Publishing Company at it's State College Pennsylvania facility. Pages were designed and created by the Photo Journalism class using 10 Dell computers with PageMaker 7.0, PhotoShop 6.0, and Josten's Yeartech. Photographs were a mix of digital and conventional images, taken by Normandy Studios of Plainfield, NJ and members of the yearbook staff. The litho pictorial cover has a custom die cut window with a bevel cut foil application exposing a custom process endsheet.

Building Connections was selected as the theme to represent the school's recent completion of a bridge that linked the two wings of the high school. The yearbook, which sold via the Josten's Direct Marketing Program, had a starting price of $68 and a presale of over 500 copies. A custom all-color Interactive CD was produced to compliment the yearbook and included events that occurred after the completion of the printed publication. Thank you to Dr. Choye and the Board of Education for addressing our needs, supporting us throughout the year, and facilitating us for reaching our goals. To Dr. Heisey for understanding our needs and being supportive of our artistic ideas. To Mrs. Senff for inspiring us to be better writers. To the Tech Department for keeping us "logged on" and "printing." To Mrs. Christopher for allowing us to "invade your space." To Bonnie Blackman for your food and high spirits, which always kept us on track. To Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. McCormack, and Mrs. Moskal for keeping us connected to the Spiffy High community. To Data Processing for keeping us on your A-list. To Dave Hartnett "the link-master" and the team at the plant for not screening our calls, your patience, understanding, and help. To Paul Tighe and Normandy Studios - we appreciate your dedication to putting the photo in Photo Journalism and for keeping us in focus. To family and friends for being understanding of our "late night needs" and everything connected with it. To Ben Solomon for the great photos. To The Fanscotian for proving that Spiffy High really is one family working together. To anyone who gave personal photos because without you, the events of this year couldn't have been represented. To the custodians for taking good care of our behind-the-scenes needs and for putting up with us. To the Yearbook staff for making the Culmen Yearbook the phenomenal product it is. Without you, the Yearbook wouldn't be here. To the editors - Barie Salmon, Tracy Salmon, Amanda Miller, Talia Weinberg, Kristin Schardien, Ashley Jones, Dani Finkel, Josh Liss, Jodi Fiorino, & Heather Vitollo - for their countless hours, undying devotion, the laughs, and the tears which made this year's yearbook the amazing success it is. To teachers and coaches for respecting our journalistic needs and for giving up your valued classroom time. To Mrs. Whitty for editing, editing... and when we were ready to submit... more editing! You've helped us to strive for perfection. To Ms. Paruta for your long hours, many stories, and laughs. Who else would measure our heads with cropping utensils?
