

senior Shannon Hauser

senior Krista Kazmierkiewicz

senior Liza Bourchtein

do you DQ?

Senior Catherine Jahn smiles as she makes a "frosty" transaction at the local Dairy Queen in Plainfield, NJ. "Good environment, great boss and [an] all around family atmosphere is what I enjoy most," said Jahn.

sophomore Rachel Kreyer

"It's been a hard days night and I've been working like a dog."
The Beatles

As gasoline prices

threatened to skyrocket to unprecedented heights, students had an extra incentive to find a job. Seeking money to subsidize their hobbies, cars, and weekend activities; students faced the obstacle of managing their time wisely. In the process of making money, "Babysitting is good money; I'm considering becoming a teacher."

sophomore Rachel Kreyer

students picked up valuable skills which will carry over to professions that they may pursue in the future. Several students saved money for special occasions, others spent it all at once, but none denied the satisfaction of receiving a hard-earned paycheck.

student jobs